

Higher Education

One of the nation's leading public research universities, UC Irvine, celebrated its 50th anniversary through June 2016. The campus is among many that provide higher education opportunities within the City of Irvine. They include Concordia University and Irvine Valley College, as well as campuses for regional universities and systems: Brandman University, Cal State Fullerton, Pepperdine, USC and the University of La Verne. Besides the links, below, the City is home to the UC Irvine School of Law and Western State College of Law.
